Hi guys, welcome to VENTS! How have you been?

Hello & thank you Vents magazine for having us. Big love to all the readers, hoping everyone is safe out there.

Can you talk to us more about your latest single "No Xplanation"?

No Xplanation is a track that was in the making for a couple of years. The initial track was supposed to be more of a Pop song aimed for the contemporary hit market. After producing a few versions, we were not satisfied with the outcome, so we put the song in the vault and went back to it about a year later with a new approach, more house less pop. It all came together in a couple of studio sessions and we knew we had something good. To add a new flavour to the track, we asked the legendary producer, StoneBridge, if he would add his touch and so he did. That's how the EP came together.

Did any event in particular inspire you to write this song?

The inspiration was from all the love, experience and events surrounding years of club music production and performance by MC Mario & Hoss. We kept it simple and tried to give it that old-school House Music love with the classic House synth & drum sounds as well as a fresh flavour to bring it all together.

Any plans to release any sort of video for the track?

The video is on our mind but not planned. 2020 and its social distancing have slowed down the video production for most artists and we have fallen victim to these circumstances as well. For sure, the video is something that we are looking forward to doing.

How was the recording and writing process?

The recording of the vocals was done a couple of years prior to the actual final production. We manipulated the original vocals quite a bit. The hook of the song initially was part of the verse and so we tried to create something magically different. Once we had the vocal hook, things were pretty straight forward after that. We approached this with an easy formula; keep it simple & pumping all the way! We kept all the element raw and simple; baseline, drums and good vocals. The sax in the song was experimental but we decided to keep it as the lead melody.

What role does Canada play in your music?

Canada is one of the biggest international music exports. We have a great fan base in Canada and the awesome fans here who appreciate good music. Canadian listeners are quite versatile music lovers. Most people here enjoy a good variety of music from Rock to House to Hip Hop. Versatile music lovers, however, are intelligent music listeners which means they always look for quality music. This makes us work harder as producers in order to deliver that demanded quality music

With your music getting so much momentum - do you feel any pressure when putting a new material or rather the opposite?

We have matured into this career exploring all sides of the business. We make music first and foremost because we love it and never try to be intimidated by it. Mind you, we have to be sharp, alert and on point with how technology and market changes from year to year or even month to month. So for this, we always try to deliver something that is in demand by today's listeners and the market.

Does the new single mean we can expect a new material - how's that coming along?

Absolutely! We have a few songs cooking in the oven; a couple of originals and a couple of remixes. But again due to uncontrolled circumstances of the global pandemic crisis we are moving at a slow pace until things get better.

What else is happening next in MC Mario & Hoss' world?

MC Mario is running his globally syndicated show which recently is airing in Australia and Israel as well. He also hosts his weekly show on Virgin radio here in Montreal, Canada.

Hoss keeps busy with his label, Funktasy, and hosts his weekly live streaming show Hoss in The House.

There will be plenty of releases MC Mario & Hoss in 2021. We are also releasing music individually as well; watch out for those heavy baselines and the 909s.

Once we are over this pandemic we will resume gigging as we are looking forward to performing live again.
